

Urban Explorer Travel Itinerary For the Coffee Lovers

Follow Coffee Expert & World Barista Championship Judge Mr. Chester Tam on his journey through our city in a day.

- 9am ● — Morning pour-over coffee at Page Common.
- 10am ● — Take a stroll in Kowloon Park, a quaint park located in the center of one of the most commercial districts in Hong Kong, Tsim Sha Tsui.
- 10.30am ● — Walk over to the Star Ferry Pier in Tsim Sha Tsui (Chester regards this as the happiest form of transportation in Hong Kong. The ferry crosses the harbour from TST over to Hong Kong Island's Central district, where travelers can capture stunning views of the city skyline)
- 11am ● — Arrive in Central (Hong Kong's hustling and bustling business and retail heart, crammed with skyscrapers, swanky malls and luxury hotels) for some quality shopping at luxury malls Landmark and IFC mall.
- 1pm ● — After some shopping therapy, head down to the eclectic Sheung Wan district for a truly authentic lunch at Wah Lok Café, a popular Hong Kong-style eatery among the locals. Chester recommends the classic Egg & Spam with Noodles, and a Pineapple bun on the side for dessert.
- 2pm ● — Go for an afternoon pick-me-up at Barista Jam café in Sheung Wan.
- 2.30pm ● — Maneuver your way to PMQ (also known as Police Married Quarters), formerly a residential quarters for married junior policemen and their families in 1951 that was turned into a mixed-use venue of art and design and opened to the public in 2014, comprising of fashionable and trendy boutique shops in support of local brands and innovation.
- 3.30pm ● — To get a taste of the local gems in the city, head on over to Upper Lascar Row where you will find some local souvenir shops and up-and-coming eateries.
- 4pm ● — Tea time break at Dim Sum Square and be sure to order the Steamed Chicken Rice and Steamed BBQ Pork Buns, as recommended by Chester (As a major culinary capital in Asia, Hong Kong is renowned for its tea time specials where locals like to take a break between 3-4pm for a quick snack)
- 5pm ● — Take the tram (also known as "ding ding") from the Sheung Wan district over to Admiralty. From there, take the Peak Tram up to the Peak just in time for the golden hour.
- 6pm ● — Admire the sunset views of the Hong Kong skyline at the top of Victoria Peak. Be sure to get some of those Instagram-worthy shots in!
- 7.30pm ● — Head back down to Central by taking the public bus rather than the tram to avoid the long queue.
- 8.30pm ● — By this time, you will be famished. Take the MTR to Jordan station and head to the wet market inside Kwun Chung Municipal Service Building for Dai Pai Dong (a type of open-air food stall in Hong Kong that every visitor must try at least once during their stay)
- 10pm ● — Head over to Michelin-listed traditional Chinese dessert joint Kai Kai Dessert in Jordan for some delectable Chinese desserts. This dessert shop has been a hidden establishment among the locals in the area for almost 40 years. Be sure to opt for their signature Sesame Soup dessert - you'll thank us later!
